Personal statement

Native Hawaiians continue to need strong, educated, passionate, open-minded leaders that can work together to address existing and future challenges and opportunities. Fortunately my generation learned from fearless leaders that came before. I think the upcoming `aha is a turning point for our people.

As a result of a strong sense of kuleana I feel to my `ohana and my people, I have dedicated my education, career, and personal time to serving Native Hawaiians. In these capacities I have actively advocated for Native Hawaiians at the state and county levels of government to ensure that our interests are advanced and rights are protected. I have also collaborated with strategic partners and allies and have extensive community experience.

I believe our socio-economic conditions, health, education, housing, culture and `aina are at stake. I want to be delegate because I know what could happen if we don't rebuild a Native Hawaiian government and what the potential is if we have a government fighting for our interests and well being.

I hope I'll have the opportunity to use my education, work experience, and passion for a better future for Hawaiians, to help move our lahui forward.
