

Anika Green-Watson

Incumbent Anika Green-Watson is a 30+ year resident of Co-op City running for re-election to the Riverbay Board of Directors.

As a self-described go-getter, Anika has always rolled up her proverbial sleeves to get the job done and her tenure on the Board has been no different. When elected in 2021, she immediately jumped into her new role to do the important committee work that is the hallmark of any successful board career. Anika is the embodiment of a working Board director. She credits her success to her ability to tackle large problems one step at a time, lending to one of her personal philosophies that “a journey of a thousand miles begins with the first step.”

Anika holds a JD/MBA and is a licensed attorney. Her professional career in Finance and Law spans more than two-and-a-half decades and she has held executive positions in Operations, Risk, Capital Management, Finance, and, most recently, Legal. She credits her comprehensive background with her ability to easily navigate the breadth of work she faces as a Board director.

When Anika is not at work or tending to Board duties, she splits her time between personal pursuits and is an active participant in several local organizations and her children’s schools. She and her husband have raised a son and daughter in Co-op City and remain deeply rooted in this community.

This year, Anika has committed to running with other Fierce Advocates for Neighborhood Success. She believes that a strong Board starts with electing strong directors!

Vote to re-elect Anika Green-Watson, Leslie Peterson, and Leah Richardson and to elect Idalia Reyes. Vote for STRONGER TOGETHER!
